1	Parking because there is NEVER enough parking when I go to the library!!!!	7/13/2015 9:33 AM
2	Obvious...car night	7/11/2015 7:39 AM
3	Concepts 2 and 5 appear to be identical, with a small difference in the shape of the building.	7/8/2015 8:14 AM
4	downtown	7/6/2015 11:41 AM
5	2.	7/6/2015 8:46 AM
6	My first choice is concept 2 (rectangle, south facing) and runner up is concept 5 (mild L-shape, south facing with potential auditorium wing pushing out on east end). Both seem most user-friendly and accessible. Like the facing INTO town aspect. The potential for a graded auditorium is nice. I also recall both would include underground parking, which is a good idea. They also preserve a bit of the old library, in some way, though that is at the bottom of my priority list since that structure is really the 2nd library in Plainfield (the first is long gone).	7/4/2015 11:42 AM
7	Parking is a big problem in downtown. There needs to be enough parking for the library patrons and other visitors to the downtown area.	7/4/2015 7:38 AM
8	Footage	7/3/2015 10:13 PM
9	Don't understand if there is an option to just rebuild or the option is two have two locations.	7/3/2015 2:07 PM
10	Size of the library	7/2/2015 9:39 PM
11	Concept 2 or 3. I think preserving existing building will lead to a disjointed design.	6/30/2015 12:45 PM
12	None. No expansion is necessary at the present time.	6/28/2015 9:15 AM

1	Pedestrian access to Illinois street...Most people drive to the library.	7/13/2015 9:33 AM
2	You're asking the wrong question... Taxes	7/11/2015 7:39 AM
3	1.	7/6/2015 8:46 AM
4	I think concept 1 is a mistake because to just add onto the existing building--with its many out-dated aspects, its flaws and challenges--would feel like spending good money to get mediocre benefit. Let it go. I now the June 15th board meeting focused on 1, 2, and 5, but I want to note I don't like the concepts that back onto/run along Rt. 59. Too problematic for easy access and not very attractive in that orientation.	7/4/2015 11:42 AM
5	Preserving the building (whole) is a nice idea, but is it practical and will it "fit" nicely with the new structure. Maybe some of the bricks could be used from the existing building on the new building.	7/4/2015 7:38 AM
6	Persevation who cares?	7/3/2015 10:13 PM
7	I hate the idea of investing more in Downtown Plainfield's location. Having access points off of 59 is going to make the traffic even more of a hazard, in my opinion. I wouldn't want to make a turn into a parking lot with a semi coming up behind me.	7/3/2015 2:07 PM
8	Access to 59 isn't necessary	7/2/2015 9:39 PM
9	Concept 1. See above	6/30/2015 12:45 PM
10	Building an entirely new building outside of downtown.	6/28/2015 9:15 AM

1	Ask me if I want an expansion? Let me see those results. Post what you're plans are? You're crossing over territory that belongs to park district. You can't do and be everything and expect to do it well. Specialize as a resource center....not a community center. When I was little I wanted a blue pony, but I knew I wasn't going to get one. I was just fun to say it. People may have said auditorium, but are they willing to pay for it, will it be used every pick and the cost recovered... Or is that just someone's blue pony?	7/11/2015 7:39 AM
2	1) Below-grade parking will be very expensive. Please have the architect address construction costs. 2) Why was a Chicago firm selected for the project? It appears that they have designed very expensive buildings in the past. There are several firms like Dewberry and Cordogan Clark in the suburbs that have designed cost-effective new buildings in nearby towns. I also notice that you have CCS International as an owner's representative. Are you aware that of the last seven libraries CCS has worked with, six have subsequently selected Nagle Hartray as the architect? This does not look good to the public, especially if anyone figures out that there is a correlation between an expensively designed building and the owners' representative's fee if it is a percentage of construction costs. It seems that Plainfield has not considered any potential lessons learned from neighboring Shorewood and is going down the same path of looking at a very expensive building that will probably not be supported by taxpayers.	7/8/2015 8:14 AM
3	You did the community a great disservice by hiring an owners representative who led you through a sham architect selection process that gave you a firm that would design you the most expensive building possible and subsequently give them a larger fee.	7/7/2015 4:25 PM
4	Thank you. Keep up the good work. Generally speaking, I think the team doing the work is being very thorough and clear and coming up with good options. The really big debates and challenges will come, of course, when we get into the cost aspect.	7/4/2015 11:42 AM
5	More books! More librarians like Mrs sue!	7/3/2015 10:13 PM
6	The area near the treatment plant would encourage people to cross the river.	7/3/2015 2:07 PM
7	Looking forward to having a larger library with even more to offer.	7/2/2015 9:39 PM
